

Seafood New Zealand Index 2009

Compiled by the New Zealand Seafood Industry Council
Information Centre

This list includes all issues of Seafood NZ magazine for the above year.
Articles may be requested at no charge by levy-payers and $15 per item for non levy-payers.
To order any of these articles please contact the Information Centre: ph. (04) 385 4005, fax (04) 385 2727, or email info@seafood.co.nz

Seafood New Zealand: Auckland Seafood Festival special issue: January 24-26 2009

Aquaculture : more than just a farm.

Seafood New Zealand. Seafood special edition, (Jan 24-26 2009), p.15
Highlights New Zealand's marine farming enterprises.

Aquaculture : the sustainable sector.

Seafood New Zealand. Seafood special edition, (Jan 24-26 2009), p. 12-13
Provides an overview of New Zealand's aquaculture industry. Highlights the success of the mussel, oyster and salmon farming sectors.

Auckland Seafood Festival : bigger and better than ever

Seafood New Zealand. Seafood special edition, (Jan 24-26 2009), p. 2-3
Profiles the Auckland Seafood Festival

Down the hatch : food on board.

Visser, Chantell
Seafood New Zealand. Seafood special edition, (Jan 24-26 2009), p. 22
Mike Jukes provides his recipe for Tangy lemon and tomato sauce for fish.

Fishermen to the rescue : fishing and saving lives in the Cook Strait.

Johnson, Derek
Seafood New Zealand. Seafood special edition, (Jan 24-26 2009), p.20
Profiles fisherman Brett Churcher, awarded and International Maritime Organisation International Bravery Award for his actions in rescuing a father and daughter following the sinking of their boat off the Wairarapa coast in 2007.

Gourmet paua : the McPherson method.

McPherson, Tania

Seafood New Zealand. Seafood special edition, (Jan 24-26 2009), p. 18

Tania McPherson offers her unique approach to the preparation of paua.

John Bennett : catching the colossal squid.

Haworth, Jenny

Seafood New Zealand. Seafood special edition, (Jan 24-26 2009), p. 16-17

Interviews skipper John Bennett on catching and landing the world's largest colossal squid.

New Zealand seafood : the source of good health.

Seafood New Zealand. Seafood special edition, (Jan 24-26 2009), p. 11

If you want to increase your intake of omega-3 fatty acids, the solution is simple - eat more seafood.

Seafood celebration.

Seafood New Zealand. Seafood special edition, Jan 24-26 2009, p. 4-6

Profiles the New Zealand Seafood Cookbook produced by the Auckland Seafood School, which as well as being a compilation of inviting recipes, is also a comprehensive seafood reference and a celebration of New Zealand's fishing industry. Recipes for Prosciutto-wrapped hapuku and Coconut-crusted snapper follow.

Seafood New Zealand: February 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 1)

Colossal squid comes to Te Papa

McMahon, Claire

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 9

Provides details of the colossal squid exhibition being displayed at Te Papa.

Cooking up the past.

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 28-29

Interviews David Veart, author of a new book about New Zealand cuisine, produced via historical domestic cook books. Recipes for Curried crayfish and Boiled skate with shell-fish sauce follow.

Direct to the customer : wharf sales in the 21st century.

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 40-43

Profiles New Zealander fishers Archie Laird and Murray and Tania Kiely who sell direct to the customer from the wharf.

Due south : fishing in the Antarctic.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 52

Profiles the blog kept by Antarctic Chieftain's skipper, John Bennett.

Due south : NZ Longline invest in Antarctic fishery.

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 16-19

Looks at New Zealand Longline's investment in the Southern ocean toothfish fishery, namely the Antarctic Chieftain.

Life is what you make it : Ed Arron and the modern paua industry.

Northcott, Rose

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 30-33

Interviews past Paua Industry Council president, Ed Arron.

Lining up : Mustad autoline system.

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 38-39

Discusses longlining methods and machinery with Beauline International's Warwick Beauchamp

No dolphins caught by fishers

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 11

Highlights that no Hector's or Maui's dolphins were caught during a period of interim relief granted to commercial fishermen.

Packaging in the real world : Cryovac working with seafood.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 26

Presents three case studies of European food companies working with Cryovac packaging to maximise their share of the ready meal market.

People on the move

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 13

Profiles Vicki McEnaney; Gill Loxton and Mark Milburn all of whom are new appointments within areas of the fishing industry.

Reaping the benefits through cooperation.

Tocker, Ross

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 14

Guest editorial from the Director of New Zealand Longline on a Talley's and Sealord joint venture.

Restoring what has been lost : fishers help native birds.

Lawson, Malcolm

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 24-25

Looks at an initiative involving Te Anau-based fishing company Fiordland Lobster Company, who have partnered with the department of Conservation to finance the capture and relocation of North island kokako on an island in Doubtful Sound.

Shafted : the benefits of going straight.

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p.34-37

Looks at shaft alignment and how it can impact on fuel efficiency.

SITO presentation for seafood.

Wilson, Sophie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 10

Profiles the presentation of SITO National certificates, in Blenheim, to employees of New Zealand King Salmon Aquaculture ventures.

Technology tour : Ulrik Hansen talks trawl gear.

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 1 (Feb 2009), p. 20-22

Interviews visiting Danish gear technologist Ulrik Hansen, nine months into his New Zealand experience.

Seafood New Zealand: March 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 2)

Aquaculture New Zealand at the Auckland seafood festival.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 15

Aquaculture New Zealand reports on their first visit to the Auckland Seafood festival.

Cautious optimism in the aquaculture sector.

Burrell, Mike

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 13.

Discusses the growth and development of the aquaculture industry in light of current government policy and the economic climate.

Dedication, risk and plain old hard work.

Vitasovich, Peter

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p.12

Editorial introducing the Seafood New Zealand quarterly aquaculture supplement. Provides broad, introductory overview of the New Zealand aquaculture industry.

Democracy in action.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 44

Reports on the Seafood Industry Council Annual General Meeting and the appointment of the elected Board of Directors.

Euro-style : Tahiti et ses iles.

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 32-35

Reports on a Tahitian holiday that includes a fish smoking operation.

Giving nature a helping hand : improving the Foveaux Strait oyster fishery.

Street, Bob

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 16-17

Offers advice on improving production in the Foveaux Strait oyster fishery.

Grandfather of aquaculture : Les Curtin and oyster farming.

Northcott, Rose

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 26-29

Profiles Les Curtin and reviews his 40 year career in New Zealand's oyster farming industry.

Intellectual property in the seafood industry.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p.11

Outlines the relevance and value of Intellectual property and its relation to research and development.

The mist lifts.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 8

Announces the launch of the "How to be a marine farmer" information on the Ministry of Fisheries website.

New doors from Morgere.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 8

Morgere have released the latest versions of two of its classic bottom doors - the OF2 (Ovalfoil) and the PFV2 (Polyfoil-V).

Organic packaging : renewable and recyclable trays.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 24

Profiles Cryovac's range of packaging made from renewable and recyclable materials.

Seafood fest a big success.

McMahon, Claire

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 14

Provides coverage of the Auckland seafood festival held in January 2009.

Seafood Industry Council policy updates.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 10

Updates changes to the Seafood Industry Council policies covering the Emissions Trading Scheme, Fisheries Act quota aggregation limits and new legislation introduced in early 2009.

Seafood : keeping it simple.

Wilson, Sophie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 30-31

Celebrity chef Richard Till shares a few tips on cooking seafood as well as a recipe for delicious mussel fritters.

Share and share alike : New Zealand and South America's seabirds.

Farr-Biswell, Shelly

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 18-19

Minimising seabird by-catch is an international undertaking and encourages cooperation between fishermen.

Tied up in knots : hands-on DVD for time-honoured skills.

Sturm, Debra

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 2 (Mar 2009), p. 20-21

Net-mending, rope splicing and gear technology are getting an innovative new training treatment via digital video.

Seafood New Zealand: April 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 3)

Baai watch : fishing ports out of Africa.

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 24-27

Reports on the author's trip to Namibia and South Africa, where he took time to visit some local fishermen.

Change as good as a rest.

Wilson, Sophie

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 28-29

Interview with Shayne Olsen, a former paua diver who now runs Lochmara Lodge in the Marlborough Sounds. Recipe for Crispy skinned moki with nicoise salad and lime aioli follows.

The easy life : Marport trawl monitoring system.

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 40-41

Looks at new additions to the Marport trawl monitoring range and finds it's compatible with a wide range of other systems and serviceable in New Zealand.

From the net to the customer : Caroline Anderson lives the dream.

Wilson, Sophie

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 30-32

Profiles Picton fisher Caroline Anderson.

Kai moana goes gourmet.

Light, Liz

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 20-22

Interviews a Northland couple, Nichola and Hamish Apatu, who take a new approach to kina and eel and produce gourmet products for delicatessens, and used in hotels, lodges and restaurants.

Letters to the editor.

Dillon, Rosco

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 12

Reports positively on a skipper's experience with the dolphin observer programme.

Mitigation in motion : saving seabirds at sea.

Farr-Biswell, Shelly

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 16-19

Investigates the background of seabird mitigation devices and reports on methods being used by New Zealand fishers.

Out for the count : fishers helping to manage paua stocks.

A Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 34-35

Reports on NIWA's use of paua divers to manage paua stocks.

A place on the coast : book review.

McMahon, Claire

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 10

Reviews "Fleurs Place : Simple, Fresh, Naturally Good Food", a recipe book that pays tribute to Moeraki restaurant, Fleurs place, renowned for its use of local seafood.

Port to port : season keeps on keepin' on.

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 42-43

Reports from around New Zealand on what's happening in the individual fishing regions.

Sail ahoy? : some observations about wind power.

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 36-39

While cruising in the Caribbean the author makes notes about the effectiveness of wind as an adjunct to diesel-powered propulsion on a modern motor sailor.

Drop a line : so long and thanks for all the fisheries management.

Stokes, Kevin

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 52

The author, about to leave the Seafood Industry Council, comments on his time with the organisation.

Southern Seabird Solutions : bringing about positive change from the deck up.

Hapi, Robin

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 15

Editorial discussing the author's role as a founding trustee of the Southern Seabird Solutions trust.

Stark Bros launch timber trawler.

Seafood New Zealand. vol. 17, no. 3 (Apr 2009), p. 5

Reports on the launch of the Stark Bros new 13 metre timber trawler.

Seafood New Zealand: May 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 4)

Auckland international boat show 2009.

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 26-27

Provides coverage of the the annual Auckland boat show.

A big step up : Westport Deep Sea Fishing school.

Northcott, Rose

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 64-66

Profiles the Westport Deep Sea Fishing school and its role in helping young people find their place in the fishing industry.

Capturing our connection with the sea.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 22-23

Announces the winners of the Ministry of Fisheries photography competition.

Celebrating the century : Port Chalmers Fisherman's Co-operative Society.

Church, Ian

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 68-71

Looks back on 100 years of a Port Chalmers institution.

Collaboration in deepwater fisheries bringing benefits to all.

Martin, Aoife

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 6

Briefly discusses the benefits of the partnership agreement signed between the Ministry of Fisheries and the Deepwater Group Ltd.

Committed to sustainability : new species aiming for MSC certification.

Campbell, Jodie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 14-19

Gives background on the Marine Stewardship Certification process and the state of New Zealand fisheries. Profiles the five fisheries - Ross Sea Antarctic Toothfish, New Zealand albacore tuna troll fishery, Southern scallops, Hake and ling fisheries and Southern blue whiting fishery - as they enter into the full assessment process for MSC certification.

Dark waters brought to life : gear technology on DVD.

Sturm, Debra

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 62-63

Looks at Danish gear technologist Ulrik Hansen's impact on the New Zealand fishing industry and discusses the production of the training DVD about trawl technology - "Operation and rigging of trawls".

Down the hatch : certifiably delicious seafood.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 52-53

Provides recipes provided by restaurants within Nelson's Rutherford Hotel. All are for species due to enter the certification process - albacore tuna, scallops, and southern blue whiting.

Drop a line : Why MSC certification?

Clement, George ; Campbell, Mitch

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 80

Editorial discussing the role of MSC Certification within the fishing industry.

The freshest buffet in town : super fish from a supermarket.

Haworth, Jenny

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 24-25

Profiles the seafood bar at Pak 'n Save, Hornby Mall, Christchurch.

Help with environmental certification.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 7

Advises that the Ministry of Fisheries is inviting applications for grants from the Environmental Certification Fund for the 2009-10 year. Certification demonstrates and improves the sustainability of New Zealand fisheries.

A life on the water : Tom Learmonth looks back.

Wilson, Sophie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 54-55

Profiles Tom Learmonth, a Scottish Stewart Islander, recently retired from New Zealand King Salmon, who has spent 50 of his 65 years working on the water.

Management move for Marlborough.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 8

Reports on the 'Marlborough Sounds Fishery Forum' held on March 28 2009. The Marlborough Sounds Blue Cod Management group formation was announced, members are listed and the role of the group discussed.

More than a library : the seafood industry's Information Centre.

Cooper, Andrew

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 60-61

Highlights the services the Information Centre is able to provide industry members.

New Zealand hoki : certification pioneer.

Campbell, Jodie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 18-20

New Zealand's hoki stocks were the first to gain MSC certification. Offers background to how the stock is being managed for the future.

New Zealand's important contribution to sustainability.

Martin, Will

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 13

Editorial discussing the importance of recent decisions by the hake, ling, southern blue whiting, southern scallop and troll-caught albacore fisheries to join the Marine Stewardship Council and seek third-party certification that they are sustainable and well-managed fisheries.

Panama passage : some views on really big engineering.

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 56-59

Provides commentary of the engineering of the Panama canal.

Seafood Industry Council policy updates.

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 12

Discusses Seafic's recent submission on amendments of the Resource management Act and a series of joining Ministry of Fisheries/Seafood Industry initiatives aimed at improving the economic performance of the seafood sector.

School for skippers : bridging course opens doors.

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 4 (May 2009), p. 72-73

Looks at a course for skippers that bridges the gap between running a commercial fishing boat and a vessel in the merchant navy.

Seafood New Zealand: June 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 5)

Drop a line : highlights of a headline speech

Key, John

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 44

Provides highlights of the Prime Minister's opening address to the New Zealand Seafood Industry Council, May 2009.

Good vibrations : industry conference gets positive

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 14-18

Summarises the issues covered at the 2009 Seafood Industry Conference. Box covers details of the signing of the full and final settlement between the Crown and iwi of Te Waipounamu and Hauraki regarding the Maori Commercial Aquaculture Claims Settlement Act.

Keeping their hand in : Stark Bros launch new wooden vessel

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 20-22

Profiles Stark Bros newly launched wooden vessel Nessie J.

Let's make the most of it!

Symmans, Owen

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 13

Editorial discussing the raised awareness throughout many sectors of the industry regarding the need for, and success of, the Quota Management System to ensure a sustainable fishery in the future.

Marine bearings ... : a how and why

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 28-31

Discusses marine bearings, the problems that can occur and whether there is room for improvement.

Marine debris : working together to find solutions

Lane, Alison

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 34-35

Reports on an initiative from Maritime New Zealand (MNZ) which will see the organisation working with the fishing industry to reduce the amount of rubbish that ends up in New Zealand waters.

More good news about fish

Johnson, Amanda

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 16-17

Emphasises the nutritional value of fish and its importance to the New Zealand diet.

No need to panic

Hogg, Allan

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 8

Author discusses the Kiwisaver scheme and explains why, due to the current economic situation, year end results may potentially be negative.

Obituary : Maurice Leigh Newman, OBE, DSC

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 10

Provides an overview of the life of Maurice Newman, former Managing Director of Ferons Ltd, Christchurch.

A perfect match : prize-winning scallops and chardonnay

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 32-33

Profiles Donna Wells, managing director for seafood exporter, Finestkind. Along with Marlborough's Saint Clair Family Wines, she won the Supreme Wine and Food Match Competition at the 2009 Marlborough wine festival with Macadamia crusted scallops with kelp sprinkle.

Port to port : federation conference and winter changes

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 36-38

Provides news round up from the fishing ports around New Zealand.

Sailing through the centuries : Lynn Ryan and The Rita

Wilson, Sophie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 24-27

Profiles Lynn Ryan who has spent half a century oyster fishing from Bluff while his boat, The Rita, is 111 years old.

World fishing exhibition update

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 5 (Jun 2009), p. 9

Provides a progress update on the World Fishing Exhibition to be held in Vigo, Spain in September 2009. Both the First World Summit on Fisheries Sustainability and the AQA Conference 2009 will take place as part of this exhibition.

Seafood New Zealand: July 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 6)

Captains of their ship : Rich and Jean Kibblewhite

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 34-36

Presents, in an expanded form, one of the profiles from 'The people of our sea'. This one features Masterton couple Richard and Jean Kibblewhite who run both a fishing and a fish retailing business.

Could this be an offer you can't refuse?

Macfarlane, Sandy

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p.15

Guest editorial from the Business Development Manager, Kauriland Petroleum, explaining the company's role in, and range of products for, the New Zealand fishing industry.

Experience + practical approach : equals seafood excellence

Sturm, Debra

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 20-21

Whitianga's OPC Fish and Lobster recently chalked up its third Sydney Fish Market Seafood Excellence Award for best overseas supplier. This article looks at what gives them the edge - something they put down to quality, knowledge and training.

Fishing down the food web debunked in new 112 year study of fish statistics

Sackton, John

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 9

Discusses a recent peer-reviewed scientific study that looked at 112 years of historical fishing records in the North Pacific that has thoroughly debunked the myth of "fishing down the food web".

From the boat to your plate

Wilson, Sophie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 30-31

Visits Fleurs Place, a restaurant in Moeraki village where the fish are fresh from the boat and on to the plate. Recipes for Fish pie and Whole baked gurnard with caper and almond butter.

Introducing your seafood industry blog : NewsFish

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 52

Advises of the launch of New Zealand Seafood's new web log NewsFish.

MAF considers commercial harvest of pest seaweed undaria

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 7

Advises MAF Biosecurity is seeking feedback on a discussion paper outlining options for the potential harvest of the introduced Asian seaweed undaria.

New book celebrates our industry

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 12

Reviews the new publication 'The people of our sea : a day in the life of New Zealand's seafood industry'. The book profiles 12 people from all areas of the industry, who talk about their jobs with pride, passion and personal satisfaction.

News review

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 2-8

Provides a round up of new products and events of interest to the fishing community. Profiles new products - the Victron Energy Quattro power unit, the WAVEstream bilge water filter system and the Sealand holding tank; advises of changes to Ministry of Fisheries organisational structure; notes anchor maker Rocna's move to manufacturing in China; publicises the Whitianga scallop festival; Looks at the opening of the Glenhaven oyster nursery and the recovering hoki fishery; Highlights the Boating Industry Training Organisations's new revised Level 4 Marine Systems Engineering qualification and Rayglass Boats recent awards at the NZ Boat Show.

New Zealand's EEZ : Pandora's box or El Dorado?

Haworth, Jenny

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 32-33

New Zealand's expansive Exclusive Economic Zone is now a little over 30 years old. This article reveals some background to its establishment.

Port to port : cold water moving in

Seafood New Zealand. Vol 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 42-43

Provides a round up of happenings in New Zealand ports. Reports from Hauraki Gulf, Taranaki, Wairarapa, Marlborough, Lyttelton and Fiordland.

Smooth running : Mobil lubes offer big advantages

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 16-19

Interviews Terry Hewitt (MG Kailis group) and Sandy Macfarlane (Kauriland Petroleum) regarding fuel efficiency in the fishing industry. At the heart of the Kailis programme is a range of synthetic lubricants from Mobil, and Kauriland Petroleum are Mobil's New Zealand supplier to the marine industry.

Still bearing up : a tale of water lubrication

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 38-41

Presents water lubrication as an alternative to the oil-filled stern tube. It's good for the environment and good for boats.

Supreme Court decision good news for industry

Scott, Bruce

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p.14

New Zealand's highest court last month handed down a decision which brings new certainty to the Quota Management System by finally dealing with the romantic rhetoric of the recreational fishing sector. This article presents the heart of the result.

Tracking them down : searching for eel spawning areas

Jellyman, Don ; Bowen, Melissa

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 26-28

Reports on using computer simulations to unravel likely spawning areas of New Zealand freshwater eels.

What's my gear doing? : A new look at Simrad electronics

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 6 (Jul 2009), p. 22-24

Advance Trident recently showcased Simrad echo sounders and related products with a series of seminars around the country.

Seafood New Zealand: August 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 7)

Aids to navigation : new application forms

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 15

Brief item advising that Maritime New Zealand has improved the process for gaining consent to work on an aid to navigation (AtoN).

Blast from the past : old catch technology in the 21st century

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 24-27

Rediscovering anchor seining (Danish seining) has given Motueka fisherman Ken Franks and his fishing operation many benefits, but its the 75 percent fuel saving that really got him interested.

Book review : murky waters

Northcott, Rose

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 8

Reviews 'Rough Justice', the story of fisherman Rex Haigh, who had his murder conviction quashed, but not before he'd spent ten years in prison.

Chartering a successful course

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 30-32

Profiles Murray Williamson who, during his thirty years in the seafood industry, has moved from travelling meat inspector to running a company that charters three Korean fishing vessels.

Drop a line : let's stop shooting ourselves in the foot

Stuart, Graham

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 52

Editorial from the Chief Executive of Sealord Group examining similarities between dairying and fishing industries and commenting on a soon to be aired television documentary 'The Great New Zealand Fishing Scandal'.

Even more bearings : water lube small ship bearings

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 34-39

Explores the various options available for elastomeric bearings.

Hooked on solutions

Farr-Biswell, Shelly

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 20-21

Interviews fisherman-turned-inventor Hans Jusseit on the development of the Smart Hook - a device that some fishermen are calling a potential "cure" to seabird and sea turtle bycatch in pelagic fisheries around the world.

Immigration policy for crew of foreign chartered fishing vessels

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 28

The Department of Labour outlines the compulsory code of practice for foreign crew working on charter vessels.

In for the krill

Webber, Rick ; Schultz, Thomas

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 40-42

Introduces the world of krill, a hugely important but often misunderstood part of marine ecosystems.

In pursuit of excellence

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 16-17

Nelson's Pursuit Fishing offers its clients a range of services from net mending to advice to skippers on how to set up their boat.

New FCV regime fully implemented

McNee, Wayne

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p.10

Ministry of Fisheries' chief executive looks at the new process to manage charter vessels one year after it was introduced.

News review

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 2-4

Brief news items on the following : Labour Department chemical safety reminder; Wellington scallop season opens; South Island flatfish catch increased; Industry welcomes graduates; New environment tool for business; Scientists find tsunami 'shadow' visible from space; Rayglass manager wins young executive reward.

News review : what's up DOC?

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 6

The Department of Conservation gives an update on its seafood industry related activities over the past year.

Oyster festival a hit

Wilson, Sophie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 22-23

Interviews the Bluff Oyster Festival committee chairman John Edminstin about showcasing the product and the local community. Down the hatch recipe for Oyster soup follows.

Port to port

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 44

A round up of news from the ports around New Zealand. This month - Hauraki gulf; Fiordland; Wairarapa; Marlborough; Bay of Plenty.

Reviews drive safety improvements

Taylor, Catherine

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 11

Guest editorial discussing the reviews that have been initiated by Maritime New Zealand over the last three years and leading on to the following articles.

Scanning the future

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 18

Looks at the Simrad SX90 low frequency sonar.

Training assistance available to SSM operators

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p. 14-15

Profiles former fisherman Darren Guard's new role as industry technical trainer with Maritime New Zealand and how he is making encouraging progress in helping operators to better understand safe ship management (SSM). Box advises of increase in seafarer licensing, ship registration and Marine Safety Charge (MSC) fees as of 1 July 2009.

Your views wanted in major review of maritime qualifications and operational limits

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 7 (Aug 2009), p.12-13

Discusses in depth the two year Qualifications and Operational Limits (QOL) reivew that has been launched by Maritime New Zealand. Encourages industry participation in the review process.

Seafood New Zealand: September 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 8)

Big fish in Wellington

Bryant, Nick

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 26-27

Profiles Minister of Fisheries Phil Heatley. Includes Down the hatch recipe for Jenny Heatley's Seafood Chowder.

Days in the bay : celebration of a local community

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 12

Reviews the book "Around the Bay : the Community, Boatbuilders and Fishermen of Careys Bay" by Ian Church with Alma Philp. The book is available for loan from the Seafood Industry Council's Information Centre.

Drop a line : Supreme court decision good news for recreational fishers?

Rowling, Geoff

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 52

Discusses recreational fishing and the need for stock management and recording of catch rates.

Government to get clearer picture of recreational catch

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 8

The New Zealand government is planning to gather information about recreational fishing catch. However the New Zealand Recreational Fishing Council believes measuring available fish stocks more important than measuring catch.

Innovative open ocean aquaculture

Wratt, Gillian

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 8

Guest editorial by the Chief Executive of Cawthron, Gillian Wratt, introducing feature articles on aquaculture and research and innovation within the industry.

Letters to the editor

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p.10

Charter vessels - Lisa Roach. No thumbs up from WWF - Rebecca Bird.

Marine Protected Areas : fishing for a working policy

Pickering, Sid

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 30-33

Examines the work done to date on the identification of potential sites for Marine Protected Areas and takes a closer look at the experience on the West Coast of the South Island.

News review

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 2-6

Round up of news items including : Minister gives paua a helping hand; Chilean students learn aquaculture in Walkworth (i.e. Warkworth); Drowning deaths down; Seafood centre planned for Nelson; Industry Information Centre preserves collection; Tainui results; International aquaculture conference.

Northern exposure : gear experiments in Alaska

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 34-37

Talks to American fisheries development scientist John Gauvin whose work for the Alaskan groundfish industry focusses on three areas: bycatch avoidance system development; reduction of habitat effects of fishing gear; and development and field testing of bycatch reduction devices to improve selectivity. New Zealand fishers are able to learn from his research.

Open ocean aquaculture : New Zealand's new seafood frontier

Northcott, Rose

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 16-19

Looks at open ocean aquaculture (OOA) and why the industry is excited about the prospects it offers. Boxes include : Cawthron; Selective breeding; What the rest of the world is doing.

Policy update

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 38-39

Updates the work undertaken by the Seafood Industry Council (SeaFIC) policy team. Touches on Marine Protected Areas; Foreshore and Seabed Act; Ministry of Fisheries plans; Economic development strategy; Sustainability.

Port to port

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 46

Provides a round up from the fishing centres around the country. This month features reports from: Fiordland; Bay of Plenty; Taranaki; Wairarapa; Marlborough.

Remembering the past, celebrating the future

Pickering, Sid

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 20-21

Reports on Nelson's annual Blessing of the Fleet, when people gather to honour fishers who have died at sea and celebrate the fishing industry.

Rescue pioneer honoured

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 28-29

Interviews Johnny McLellan, a pioneer in New Zealand marine search and rescue. In May 2009 he received the prestigious Gold Award at the New Zealand Search and Rescue Awards.

Seasonal climate outlook : August - October 2009

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 14

Presents climate predictions for early spring across New Zealand.

Study ranks New Zealand fisheries number one

Pickering, Sid

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 22-23

Interviews Pamela Mace, who was one of the 21 scientists from around the world to co-author a major international study that rated New Zealand's fisheries as among the healthiest on the planet. This is attributed to New Zealand's Quota Management System.

Training made niche and easy

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 24-25

Highlights Westport Deepsea Fishing School's approach to seafood industry training that has flexibility to meet industry demands and cater for all levels of workplace experience. Called niche or boutique training, the system has been successfully trialled by Guyton fisheries.

Vibration, its effects and some answers

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 8 (Sep 2009), p. 40-44

Looks at the whys and wherefores of vibrations on fishing vessels.

Seafood New Zealand: October 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 9)

Building for the future

Stark, Andrew

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p.15

Guest editorial from the Chief Executive of Stark Bros. on boat building industry and the future of fishing vessels.

Department of Conservation observer programme

Rowe, Stephanie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 30-31

Presents questions to and answers from Stephanie Rowe (Department of Conservation) regarding Doc's decision to extend its observer programme to the inshore fisheries.

Drop a line : Fishermen not interested in sabotaging their livelihood

Douglas, Peter

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 60

Presents the argument that fisherman have a vested interest in conserving the fisheries resource.

Letters to the editor

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 8-9

Foreign charter vessels documentary - Cyril Lawless; Ministry of Fisheries restructure - Maurice Ashby; Reply to Graham Stuart's "drop a line" column - Tony Roach.

Live and direct : mussels on display

Johnson, Derek

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 20-22

Interviews the principals of the Hair Mussel Company, Tim Madden and Helen Johnson, on their business and the challenges of converting New Zealanders to the joys of greenshell mussels. The company provides live mussels to customers and has developed the Hairy Hotel - a tank that can present live mussels without a plumbed in water supply or the need for power.

New structure and focus for the Ministry of Fisheries

McNee, Wayne

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 36.

Outlines the changes in the Ministry of Fisheries recent restructure.

News review : Whitianga scallop festival

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 6.

Reports on the success of the 2009 scallop festival in Whitianga, Coromandel.

News review

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 2-5

Brief items on: Changes on the Aquaculture New Zealand board; New fish filleting guidelines developed; Food safety guidelines for inshore fishing vessels; Christchurch boat show; New Zealand seafood industry to 2030; Electronic catch reporting supported; Marine reserve fish 'just passing through': judge; More bad news for paua poachers; New paua rules for the Chatham Islands.

Nuts 'n' bolts : electric mice

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 38-41

Stray electrical current can nibble away at your propellor with disastrous consequences.

Obituary : Peter McKinnon

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p.10-14

An obituary for Peter McKinnon, former Chief Executive of the New Zealand Fishing Industry Guild.

Port to port : Port of Auckland

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 42-44

Profiles fisherman Stephen Lines who fishes out of the Port of Auckland and Dave McIntosh, who although retired, is still active in the Federation of Commercial Fishermen.

Port to port

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 44-45

Provides a round up of activities in the fishing regions of Marlborough, Fiordland, Wairarapa and Taranaki.

Salmon king

Haworth, Jenny

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 34-35

Profiles the career of New Zealand King Salmon's chief executive, Paul Steere.

Seafood Kiwi style

McMahon, Claire

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 32-33

Profiles the book "Go Fish" by author and Logan Brown chef Al Brown. Provides "Down the Hatch" recipe for roasted groper belly with salsa verde.

Stark Bros full steam ahead

Pickering, Sid

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 16-19.

Profiles Stark Bros. boat builders. The company's ability to adapt has seen it become an important player on the marine engineering and ship repair scene. Looks at future work and business development plans including repair and restoration of the historic crane barge Hikitea.

Tuna season

Haworth, Jenny

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 9 (Oct 2009), p. 24-26

Talks to Talley's Fisheries and fisherman Dale Coker about the 2009 tuna season.

Seafood New Zealand: November 2009 (Vol. 17 no. 10)

Bridging the gap

Shaw, Mike

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 28

Reports on the efforts of Plant and Food Research to bring marine science from the lab to the marketplace. Highlights work being undertaken at the new Bioprocessing Laboratory (BPL) in Stoke, Nelson.

Drop a line : food production and the environment

Clement, George

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 52

Considers the ecological impact of fishing as food production when compared with other, land-based, forms of farming and horticulture. Discusses the solutions that provide for seafood production and ensure the environment is looked after for future generations.

Fighting fire with training

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 24-26

Profiles a new practical training facility at Nelson Marlborough Institute of Technology that prepares students for dealing with fires onboard fishing vessels.

Fishing for stories

McMahon, Claire

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 40

Profiles upcoming work from TV fishing show Gone Fishin' presenter Graeme Sinclair.

Fishing up solutions in South Africa

Farr-Biswell, Shelly

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 38-39

WWF-South Africa and a number of fishing companies have learned that by working together they can achieve great things. Interviews some of the people behind South Africa's new Responsible Fisheries Alliance.

FishSAFE : "let's use it or lose it"

Guard, Darren

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 17

Guest editorial urging fishermen to take up the FishSAFE accident and injury reduction programme.

Full steam ahead : Allan Rooney

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 30-33

Interviews Allan Rooney on his career, spanning more than 35 years, in the fishing industry.

Industry mentors : the driving force behind FishSAFE

Henderson, Ross

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 18-21

Three years since its introduction, the FishSAFE programme is continuing to improve attitudes towards fishing safety, with one-on-one mentoring a key driver of the programme's ongoing success. Provides profiles of the mentors.

Land of the long white cloud

Pickering, Sid

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 14

Reviews the documentary "Land of the long white cloud" about the annual Ninety Mile Beach red snapper classic fishing competition. Directed by Florian Habbicht.

Letters to the editor : marine protected areas

Lawless, Cyril

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 12

Expresses concern on the consultation over the proposed Marine Protected Area on the West Coast of the South Island.

Making up for lost time

Wilson, Sophie

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 22-23

Profiles Neroli Gold, chair of the fifteenth Kaikoura Seafest. She tells why she loves the festival and the town it celebrates. Down the Hatch recipe for Thai fish curry follows.

News review

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 2-10

News round up providing coverage of the following: MPA process continues; Aquaculture laws to be overhauled; Heatley; Fishing vessel posters available; Twenty-two percent hoki increase "Business as usual" says industry; Fiordland company helps save endangered bird; New memorial to celebrate Picton's fishers; Literacy initiative spells success; New items at the Seafood Industry Council Information Centre; World fishing exhibition 2009; Te Papa goes deep; New summer boating safety initiatives launched; Seafood ITO website honoured; New Year arrives early for New Zealand fishermen.

Nuts 'n' bolts : Facts and fallacies, bits and bobs

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 42-45

Discusses propellers on fishing vessels.

Port to Port

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 46

Provides round up of news from ports around the country: Marlborough, Hauraki gulf and Bay of Plenty.

What's happening to recruitment of freshwater eels in New Zealand?

Jellyman, Don

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 10 (Nov 2009), p. 34-36

Presents research on eel numbers in New Zealand.

Seafood New Zealand: December 2009/January 2010 (Vol. 17 no. 11)

Drop a line : foresight needed to manage ocean treasures

Symmans, Owen

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 76

Discusses the need for careful, and joint, management of marine resources especially where there is the possibility for potential conflict of interest such as fishing and mining. Suggests an all encompassing "oceans policy" that would ensure all industries working in the marine environment are able to achieve the right balance between their competing commercial interests and the need to safeguard environmental values.

English fishermen "coble" together

Bartram, Kate

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 48-51

The author investigates the lot of local inshore fishermen operating near the mouth of the River Tees in the north-east of England. The issues concerning them, fishing quotas and seal theft, are similar to those concerning New Zealand fishing communities.

The good oil : synthetic or mineral?

Findley, Tim

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 60-63

Explains why not all lubricants are equal. Looks at synthetic versus mineral oil and the roles of each.

Heatley visits the Chathams

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 6

Discusses the the Fisheries Minister's visit to the Chatham Island and issues facing the fishing community of the Chathams. Also looks at the role of customary fisheries within the local industry.

Hothouse legislation : the ETS and the seafood industry

Clark, Tom

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 54-56

Discusses the climate change issue and its effect on the seafood industry.

Independent fisheries : 50 years strong

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 40-43

As Independent Fisheries celebrates its 50th anniversary, this article looks back over its first half century.

Industry stays ahead of The Times

Pickering, Sid

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 44-45

Reports on how the New Zealand seafood industry faced up to a potentially damaging story from the New York Times regarding sustainability in the hoki industry. Highlights the use of technology to fight back and present information refuting the original article.

Letters to the editor

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 20

Letters from Cyril Lawless on international recognition of New Zealand's sustainable fisheries and from Andrew Spence regarding disappointment over television item on the cost of fish. Further comment of Spence's letter provided by Dave McIntosh.

Managing the eel fishery

Holmes, Mike

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 58-59

Eel Enhancement Company chairman advocates an "enlightened management approach" for the sustainable harvesting of New Zealand's eel resources.

New fisheries management organisation in place

Pickering, Sid

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 16-18

Interviews New Zealand Seafood Industry Council's Alastair Macfarlane on New Zealand's role as host country for the South Pacific Regional Fisheries Management Organisation, an international organisation governing the world's largest managed fishery.

News review

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 2-11

Features items on the following : National bragging rights on the line for top knife; New items at the Seafood Industry Council Information Centre; Auckland Seafood Festival; Misguided eel claims a "tragedy"; Seafood industry's "big fish" (Deepwater Group's George Clement) who made the Listener's 2009 Power and Influence list; First stage of MNZ QOL review complete; New Zealand tops world in fisheries management; Te Ohu Kaimoana Chair appointment announcement; Vessel surveillance to continue; Japanese to set up replica of water safety in New Zealand; "Every fish counts" for recreational fishers this summer; Northland apprentice wins Rotary leadership award; Fishermen fuel Leigh.

New Zealanders and the sea [book review]

McMahon, Claire

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 22

Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 22

Reviews this recently published encyclopaedia on New Zealander's engagement with the sea but finds it misses the boat when it comes to reporting on New Zealand's seafood industry.

Port to port : Port of Nelson

Pickering, Sid

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 64-67

First part presents interview with Mathew Hardyment talking about life fishing in the waters around Nelson harbour. Followed by a round-up of news from the ports of Marlborough, Auckland, Taranaki, Fiordland, Wairarapa, Port Chalmers and a Christmas message from the chairman of the New Zealand Federation of Commercial Fishermen.

Read all about it and count up the benefits

Pickering, Sid

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 24-27

Looks at work being undertaken to embed core literacy and numeracy skills into existing industry training.

Salt of the ocean : Charlie Somervail

Carey, Chris

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 32-35

Interviews well-known identity Charlie Somervail about life in the fishing industry.

A seafood Christmas

McMahon, Claire

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 38-39

Talks to New Zealand Seafood Industry Council staff about the different Christmas traditions using seafood, from their countries of origin. Follows up with recipes for Kokoda; sauces for rock lobster; and a salmon recipe.

Sealord leadership development programme

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 13

Profiles the success of Sealord's unique leadership development course, developed in partnership with the Seafood Industry Training Organisation.

Survey : why we're suffering "green fatigue"

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 9

Reports on findings that many New Zealanders are suffering "green fatigue".

Sustainability of international fisheries crucial to New Zealand

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 12

Reports on presentation by NZ Seafood Industry Council CEO, Owen Symmans, at the World Seafood Conference in Morocco. In his presentation Symmans underlined New Zealand's excellent record of fisheries management, made possible by the Quota Management System.

Unlocking potential in the seafood industry

Raureti, Rolly

Seafood New Zealand. Vol. 17, no. 11 (Dec 2009/Jan 2010), p. 23

Guest editorial discussing the philosophy of the Seafood ITO and its Embedded Foundation Learning programme.